

A never-ending void of darkness in its appearance in the glass from the core to the rim, where it just shows a touch of garnet. Aromatically this wine really pulls you into the glass. Blackberry, black currants, freshly cracked white peppercorns and just a hint of vanilla. Full bodied and very giving, and really showcasing the silky elegance one finds from the terroir for St. Helena, and the complexity that only old vines can provide. This is a wine that wants for bistro style foods.
